

Your contribution will enable us to create a Festival of moments that inspire a lasting passion for reading and ideas.

This year Melbourne Writers Festival is supporting over 250 Australian and international writers and thinkers, by providing them the opportunity to engage, share and celebrate with Victorian readers.

We have a long history of nurturing local artists and we have supported the careers of many Australian writers – something we are deeply committed to.

With thanks to the generosity of our donors and sponsors, the annual Melbourne Writers Festival continues to be a world-class event that stimulates and challenges audiences and authors alike. Each Festival builds a community from shared experiences, powerful connections and the exchange of ideas.

Around half of our annual income comes to us through partnerships, donations and philanthropy. We need support to continue building this community of readers and writers. Please donate today.
